++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Dry with long spells of warm or very warm sunshine.

Today:

Any overnight low cloud and mist, especially across central and eastern parts burning back to the coast through the morning. Otherwise a dry day with long spells of unbroken warm or very warm sunshine. Mainly light easterly winds.

Tonight:

Some late sunshine then clear spells, especially central and western parts but low cloud spreading inland from east coast. Outbreaks of showery rain edge into the far northeast towards dawn.

Monday:

Low cloud becoming confined to the northeast where further outbreaks of showery rain likely. Locally heavy, slow moving, afternoon showers develop across central and southern parts. West dry until later.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:

Much cooler and increasingly unsettled with showers or longer spells of rain, these heavy and perhaps thundery at times.
